The story of the Nobility Hill Neighborhood is all about some of Stoneham's most spirited people and their wonderful homes. Built up between the 1860's and 1920's, this compact enclave embraces Maple and Chestnut Streets plus Cedar Avenue. Not only the elite, but also their middle class contemporaries enjoyed the close proximity to the Central Square factories as well as the ease of commuting to Boston by train. More importantly, Nobility Hill was the place they called home.

This event is free and open to the public.
